FAMILY FUN FLOWER ART

Strong families nurture their five strengths so children blossom and grow.

All families have strengths. Caring for those strengths helps them to bloom and grow. Have fun making your Five Strengths flower! Everyone in the family can help and join in the fun.

To make your strong family flower:

1. Color the flower petals.
Red for Building inner strength
Blue for Parenting as children grow
Green for Connecting with others
Yellow for Knowing how to find help
Aqua for Helping kids understand feelings
2. Color the remaining flower parts.
3. Cut out the flower parts.
4. Glue or tape the parts together to create your flower.
5. Display in your home to remind your family of its strengths.

pinwheel coloring sheet

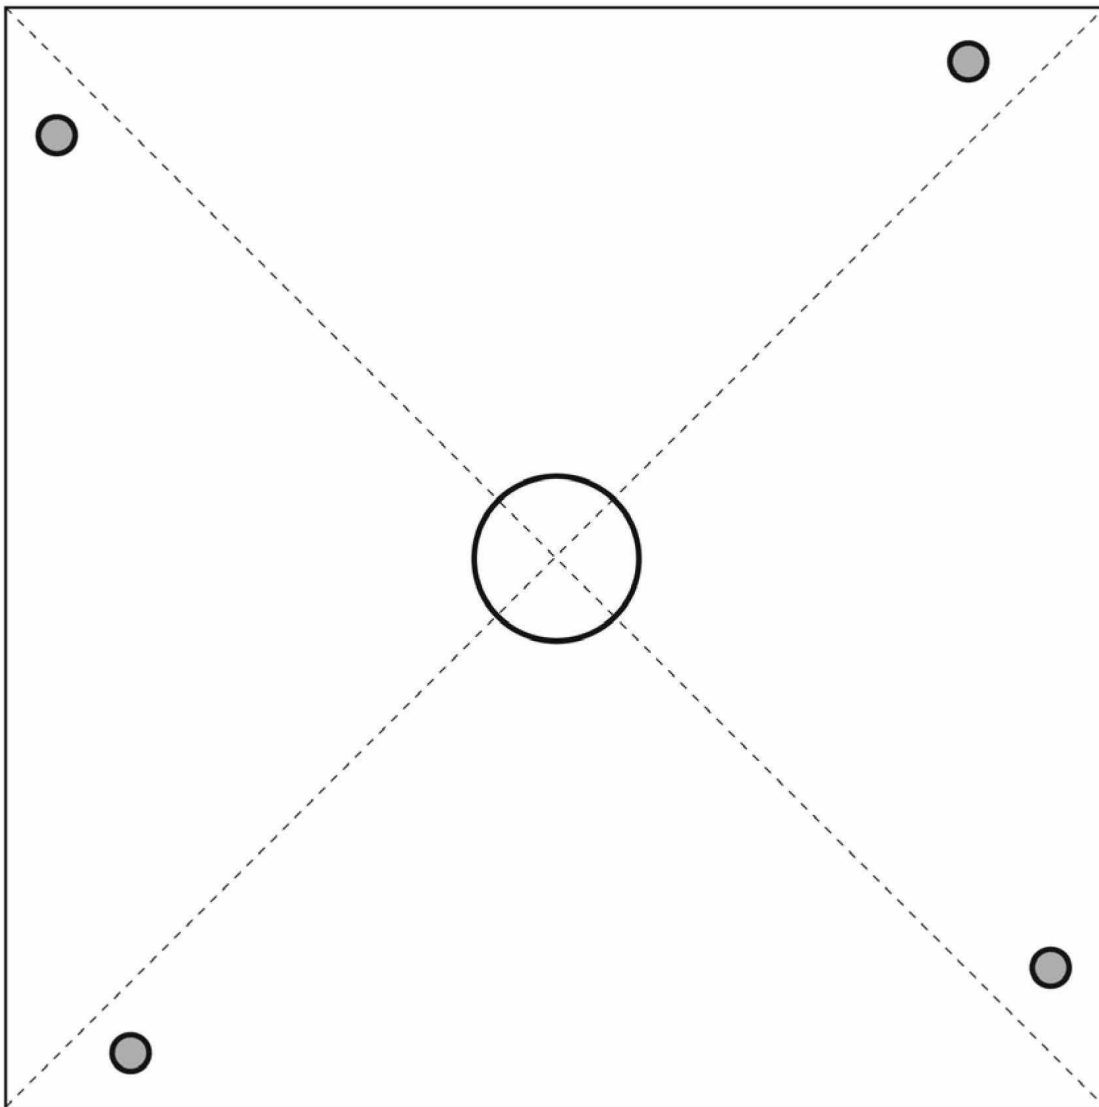

Pinwheels
for PREVENTION

Pinwheels for Prevention

In 2008, the blue pinwheel became the national symbol for child abuse prevention efforts, and it serves as a reminder that all children deserve great childhoods.

Make Your Own Pinwheel!

What you'll need: A pencil with eraser, an 8 1/2 x 11 sheet of white copy paper, scissors, crayons, colored pencils or markers, thumb tack.

Directions: Reproduce the pinwheel pattern on white copy paper. Cut out the pinwheel pattern along the solid lines only. Decorate both sides of the paper pinwheel. Cut the dotted lines from the four corners to the center circle. Try not to cut into the center circle. Fold in each section, so that the small dark circles on the four points meet at the center circle. Push the thumb tack through the center circle and into the eraser end of the pencil. (An adult should do this part) Now head outdoors and watch your pinwheel spin in the wind, or create your own wind by using your breath to make your pinwheel go round and round.
